WOMEN'S OUTSIDE LOOP RECORD HOLDER IS KILLED IN CRASH

Akron, O., June 24.—(U.P.)—Miss Mildred Stinaff, 20, holder of the 1929 women's outside loop record, was killed last night when her airplane power-dived 1,200 feet after a loop and crashed in a field near the municipal airport.

JOHN W. SMITH HELD IN PRISON ON FRAUD CHARGE

WEALTHY IOWA MANUFACTURER ONCE RAN FOR GOVERNOR OF STATE

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO DEFRAUD INSURANCE COMPANY OF $50,000

Adel, Iowa, June 24.—(U.P.)—John W. Smith, wealthy manufacturer who once ran for governor and who for months was considered dead and buried, was held today in the Dallas county jail on charges of attempting to defraud the Travelers Insurance Company of $50,000.

Smith was found yesterday in a ditch near Garner, Ia. His hands and feet were tied together with wire. He told officials that three kidnappers held him prisoner in a cellar since February, then tossed him into the ditch. Sheriff C. A. Kneel, who brought Smith here from Garner last night, expressed doubt in the kidnapping story.

Smith's disappearance in February created a sensation. He owns a large insecticide factory at Perry, was farmer-labor candidate for governor in 1930, and was known throughout the state. Shortly after he left Perry on a business trip, his truck was found burned. In it was the charred corpse of a man. His wife, beneficiary of a new $50,000 insurance policy, buried the body as that of Smith.

The insurance company doubted, however, that the politician was dead, had the body exhumed and established that it was not his. The body, it was found, had been embalmed before it was burned with the truck.

Mrs. Smith published statements pleading with her husband to return home. On March 20, she received a mysterious message, set out to keep a supposed rendezvous with Smith, and was injured when her automobile turned over. Several other reports were heard of Smith being alive, but no definite word of him was established until he was found yesterday.

The manufacturer appeared to be suffering greatly from fatigue and became incoherent after telling of being held a prisoner. He was identified through fingerprints.

Sheriff Kneel and Sheriff E. P. Hanson of Garner, who found Smith, pointed out in expressing doubt of his story that the politician was tanned although he said he had been kept in a cellar since February. They said too that he recently had his hair cut. He wore a three-day beard. He was bound loosely when found, Kneel said.

The French reply, a summary shows includes the following salient points:

1. France agrees to waive for one year the conditional annuities totaling 1,634,000,000 francs ($25,360,000).

2. The entire unconditional annuity of 2,775,000,000 francs ($42,500,000) due France must be paid into the bank for international settlements at Basle.

The Basle bank is to have sole control over how the $111,000,000 is to be distributed in credits to Germany and other eastern European states requiring financial aid.

France, in other words, insists on Germany's paying the unconditional annuity during the year's holiday, but is willing to turn that money back to Germany if the bank of international settlements believes Germany or other eastern European countries need it.

The Young plan must be continued, the French reply stipulated, but France is ready to waive the conditional annuities for a year.

The French government insists that application of the plan be limited to one year, after which the bank for international settlements will resume usual payments to credit to powers of Germany's unconditional annuities.

Rome, June 24.—(U.P.)—The Italian government today announced acceptance, in principle, of President Hoover's war debts holiday proposal.

The American plan had been favorably received, and acceptance was expected, although one condition indicated was that Germany give up the proposed customs union with Austria.

Italy's acceptance of President Hoover's proposal was embodied in a cable from Premier Benito Mussolini to Mobile Giacomo De Martino, Italian ambassador at Washington. It read:

"I beg your excellency to inform the government of the United States that I have examined the proposal of Pres. Hoover for the total suspension of payments on war debts among the governments for one year.

"This proposal will mean noteworthy sacrifices by Italy, but I, after mature reflection, have decided to give my most cordial acceptance to it in principle.

"I promise to forward to the American government several observations for the just and practical application of the agreement as intended by the happy initiative of President Hoover.

"Furthermore, I wish to say the initiative of President Hoover has the highest moral significance which is perfectly appreciated by the Italian people.

"It may open a period of efficacious collaboration among the nations extremely necessary at this moment of

Pope Protests Publicly Against Treatment Accorded Vatican by Italian Government

ADDRESSES 90 PILGRIMS FROM NAPLES AT VATICAN

DECLARES PRESENT SITUATION AS PAINFUL, THINGS NOT NORMAL

ITALY AGAIN DEFIES VATICAN'S DEMANDS IN NEW NOTE TODAY

Vatican City, June 24.—(U.P.)—The pope protested publicly today against the treatment accorded the Vatican by the Italian government shortly after the government had delivered its reply to the pope's latest note.

In an address to 90 pilgrims from Naples who had just returned from a pilgrimage to Padua, Assisi and Loretto, the pope said:

"The situation is bad. Things are not going normally and today are not tending to return to normal. The present situation is painful and abnormal. Both the pope and the Holy See are not being treated as we deserve to be treated."

Italy's reply protested the "secret and seditious" dealings of Azione Cattolica in the extra-territorial palaces held by the Vatican outside Vatican City, under the Lateran accord.

It protested also the pope's "unjust" appeals to world sympathy, and concluded by insisting that the real problem centers on Article 43 of the Concordat between Italy and the Vatican, on which Italy expressed willingness to open negotiations.

Under Article 43, Italy recognizes Azione Cattolica as a purely religious organization and the Vatican undertakes to keep it out of politics. It was inserted in the Concordat to guard against formation of a Catholic political party.

Rome, June 24.—Italy defied the Vatican's demands in a note delivered to the pope today, replying to his protests against closing of Catholic clubs and anti-Catholic incidents by Fascists.

The note refused to deplore further demonstrations against the pope, and refused to re-open the youth branches of Azione Cattolica, which the government had closed.

FIREMEN DRIVE 17 LARGE TRUCKS FROM BLAZING GARAGE

Minneapolis, June 24.—(U.P.)—Firemen drove 17 large trucks from a blazing garage today at the risk of their lives after a 200 gallon still had exploded and set the building afire. The trucks were valued at $50,000. Most of them were owned by the White Star Sugar Co. Police found a number of empty alcohol tins in one of the trucks.

The still was located under the garage, police said. More than 200 gallons of finished alcohol were seized. Search was started for one of the renters of the building. Loss to the garage was less than $1,000.

Naval Dirigible Los Angeles Had Small Fire

Washington, June 24.—(U.P.)—Commander A. H. Dressell of the naval dirigible Los Angeles reported to the navy department today there had been a small fire aboard the craft in her hangar at Lakehurst, N. J. Damage was slight.

CLAIMS WORLD IS SUFFERING FROM EXCESS OF SIN

Dallas, Tex., June 24.—(U.P.)—The world is suffering from an excess of sin and we all would be better off if we got together in one big revival meeting, Rolf McPherson, 18-year-old son of Almee Semple McPherson and an evangelist himself, believes.

Young McPherson, a leading attraction at the Four Square Gospel convention being held here, delivered himself of a few observations on modern times and manners. They included the following:

1. The world is gradually getting worse.

2. Prohibition is a wonderful thing.

3. Money brings evil.

4. In foreign countries, where there are not so many luxuries, the people are further from sin because they have more home life.

5. Moving pictures are bad.

FLYING OVER ATLANTIC TODAY

These fliers, Holger Hoiris (left) and Otto Hillig, in cockpit of their Bellanca monoplane, are flying over the Atlantic ocean today in a flight to Copenhagen. Their successful hop is seen by favorable weather. News flashes state they are being carried on a tail wind. Copenhagen has made elaborate preparations for their arrival.

FARMERS UPRISING IN NORTH MEXICO; 19 PERSONS KILLED

Mexico City, June 24.—(U.P.)—An uprising of farmers who attacked the town of Patambarrillo was reported in a dispatch from La Piedra, Michacan state, to the newspaper La Prensa today.

The dispatch said 19 persons were killed in the surprise attack, and three seriously wounded.

The farmers descended on the town during the absence of the mayor to avenge an old grudge, the report said.

DOOLITTLE IN NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

CONSIDERED ONE OF AMERICA'S MOST DARING, EXPERT FLIERS

HIS NEW SPEED PLANE FALLS APART WHEN TRAVELING 250 MILES AN HOUR

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—(U.P.)—James "Jimmy" Doolittle, who is considered one of America's most daring and most expert fliers, had another narrow escape from death last night when his new speed plane started falling apart while he was traveling 250 miles an hour only 100 feet up.

Doolittle again displayed the alertness which has saved him on several occasions. Quickly jerking the nose of the ship upward, he climbed almost vertically and before the plane went to pieces gained enough altitude that he was able to "bail out" with a parachute and float safely to earth. The plane was demolished.

The former army flier had invited newspaper men to watch his speed test, saying he wanted them to "be in on it" if anything happened. His 19 year old son, James, Jr., also was watching.

At the 1929 air races in Cleveland, Doolittle flew a plane out of its wings in making a daring power dive. At Kansas City last spring he narrowly escaped death when in making a vertical climb he collided with and cut the tail off another ship.

Former Sheriff Charged with Contempt of Senate

Washington, June 24.—(U.P.)—Thomas W. Cunningham, former sheriff of Philadelphia county, Pennsylvania, will be arraigned Friday before Justice Peyton Gordon in district supreme court on an indictment charging contempt of the senate. Cunningham refused information to a senate committee investigating William R. Vare's senatorial campaign.

SCORCHING HEAT IS MOVING ON TO MINNESOTA

EXPECTED TO BE ENDED BY THUNDER STORMS TONIGHT

TEMPERATURES NEAR 80 IN MORNING IN MINNESOTA, SOUTH DAKOTA

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—A scorching heat wave that moved on from Minnesota from South Dakota today will be ended by thunder storms tonight the weather bureau predicted.

Temperatures were in the 80's at 7 A. M. today over Minnesota and South Dakota, and weather bureau officials said the temperatures probably would pass 90 degrees during the day.

High temperature marks of 102 were recorded from half a dozen towns in South Dakota yesterday. Huron had 94, Rapid City 102, Pierre 98. Another day of hot weather was predicted for South Dakota.

Thunderstorms scattered over North Dakota will reach Minnesota today. Due to the unsettled weather temperatures in Devils Lake were in the 70's. Bismarck had 80. Moorhead and Williston reported thunderstorms.

NET OPERATING INCOME OF N. P. SHOWS DECLINE

St. Paul, June 24.—(U.P.)—The net railway operating income of the Northern Pacific railway during the month of May showed a decline of $519,750 as compared with the same month in 1930, according to the monthly report of revenues and expenses filed with the Interstate Commerce commission, today.

Total operating revenues for May were $5,253,204. Railway operating expenses for May totalled $4,862,435, which is a decline of $894,263.

The May total revenues decreased $1,414,876 as compared with the corresponding month a year ago.

GIRL CHARGED WITH STRANGLING HER NEWBORN INFANT

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—A special grand jury may be called to hear evidence that Anna Pinkowski, 19, strangled her newborn infant and threw it in a swamp, County Attorney John L. Townley, Jr., said today.

The girl confessed that she was the mother of the child which was found by one of her brothers and that she had strangled it before throwing it in the swamp, Townley said.

The girl's family knew nothing of the affair, the county attorney believed. The swamp where the child was found is in Leaf Mountain township.

WILEY POST AND HAROLD GATTY IN SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT

DARING ROUND WORLD FLIERS DASH FROM NEW YORK TO LIVERPOOL

HILLIG AND HOIRIS LEAVE HARBOR GRACE FOR COPENHAGEN

Berlin, June 24.—(U.P.)—The monoplane Winnie Mae, flashing around the world, arrived here at 8:30 P. M. from Hannover, Germany, where it made a brief halt after spanning the Atlantic during the night.

The fliers, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, brought their speedy craft down here before proceeding to Moscow.

They were utterly exhausted after nearly 36 hours of almost continuous flying.

The flight of 750 miles from Chester was made in six hours 25 minutes elapsed time.

The elapsed time from Harbor Grace to Berlin was almost exactly 24 hours, a new record for the flight from America to Germany. The flier's first landing in Germany was at Hannover, approximately 22 hours after leaving Newfoundland.

In June, 1927, Clarence D. Chamberlain flew from New York to Germany in 42½ hours on a non-stop flight.

Liverpool, Eng., June 24.—(U.P.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, after a successful flight across the Atlantic, landed their monoplane Winnie Mae at the Seland airdrome, near Chester today, and proceeded on their way around the world after a brief halt.

The daring fliers came down at the airdrome at 1 P. M. but despite the strain of their dash from New York to Newfoundland and across the Atlantic in little more than 24 hours, refused to rest but took off with the intention of flying at least as far as Berlin and perhaps to Moscow.

Chester is 16 miles southeast of Liverpool and 20 miles from the Irish Sea.

First word that the fliers had made the year's first crossing of the North Atlantic came when they passed over Bangor, Wales, 40 minutes before reaching Chester. Bangor is 50 miles due west of Chester, on the northwest coast of Wales. They were headed on a straight course for Berlin.

The fliers left at 2:05 P. M. after a halt of one hour. They were cheerful and received the congratulations

Seland Airdrome, Chester, Eng., June 24.—(U.P.)—When Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed here after flying across the Atlantic, Post's first question was:

"Is this England, Scotland or Wales?"

When he learned it was the Seland Airdrome, he said:

"We are from New York. We have just flown across."

of airport attaches smilingly, predicting with quiet confidence that their stout plane would carry them around the world in ten days.

Post and Gatty left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 2:27 P. M. EST. yesterday, and flew the distance of approximately 2,850 miles to Chester in 16 hours and 33 minutes at high speed.

Their start from New York was made at 3:56 A. M. EST. yesterday. The flight to Newfoundland required 7 hours and 49 minutes. The elapsed time from New York to Chester was 27 hours and 4 minutes.

Post revealed that the fliers were "lost" while approaching Ireland. "We were surprised to find ourselves off our course," he said, "but later discovered we were not as far off as we had thought. We did not get our bearings until about 200 miles east of Galway. Later we encountered fog and clouds that hindered our observations."

"Coming down out of the fog we saw water, which we took to be the Irish Channel, and after skirting the coast of North Wales, we decided to land."

Post and Gatty looked wonderfully fit. They said they were hardly tired after their flight and their appearance confirmed it.

"We enjoyed the trip, except for three or four hours of rain we encountered early in the flight," Post said. "After that the weather was clear and we made good time."

"We hope to finish the flight even in better time than we had expected."

The flight from Harbor Grace, with favorable winds, was made at a fast average of approximately 160 miles an hour.

When the fliers took off again they were escorted over Chester by two service planes. Commander A. P. Ellis, in charge of the field, and other pilots wished them good luck and a successful journey.

"It was monotonous over the sea," Post said, "but after we sighted land we became excited an thought we were somewhere off southern England. It must have been fog that put us off."

"The machine behaved perfectly and we never had the slightest apprehension. It might have been a mere demonstration flight, the engine ran so smoothly."

"After hte first couple of hours we

RAILROAD OPPOSES CAMP BUS SERVICE

N. P. Says It Is Willing to Supply All Necessary Service; Hearing Next Wednesday

The Northern Pacific railroad today protested action by the state railroad and warehouse commission allowing the Northland Transportation Co. to install bus service between Little Falls and Camp Ripley, national guard camp.

The bus service was started last Thursday. The protest cited that the bus line parallels the railroad's line and that the Northern Pacific is ready and willing to supply all necessary service.

Hearing of the protest was set for 11 A. M. next Wednesday at the city hall at Little Falls.

Half hour bus service is maintained by the bus company from 6 P. M. to 10:30 P. M. daily and from 2 P. M. to 2:30 P. M. Sundays.

BAFFLING DEATH OF STARR FAITHFULL STILL UNSOLVED

HAD PROFESSED "MAD AND INSANE" ATTACHMENT FOR SHIP'S DOCTOR

DR. G. JAMESON CARR GIVES CORRESPONDENCE TO GRAND JURY

New York, June 24.—(U.P.)—Despite two letters said to have been written by Starr Faithfull to Dr. G. Jameson Carr, for whom she professed "a mad and insane" attachment and which indicated her intention of suicide, the baffling death of the beautiful Greenwich Village girl seemed no nearer solution today.

The missives, presented to the Nassau county grand jury yesterday by Dr. Carr, ship's doctor aboard the Cunard liner Franconia, told of her unrequited love for him and told of carefully laid plans by the eccentric 25-year-old girl to end her life by means which would prevent frustration.

However, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards, who has clung to a theory of murder since the girl's body was found on Long Beach more than two weeks ago, declared he was still skeptical that Starr had taken her own life.

Stanley E. Faithfull also held to the murder theory today and charged the letters were forgeries. He trembled with indignation when he was shown the missives written in round graceful script, and declared:

"The letters are forgeries. That's all I can say."

Faithfull denied he had any name to suggest in connection with his charge.

In a letter mailed at Grand Central Annex the day preceding Starr's disappearance, the girl's philosophy of life was outlined. It read in part:

"If one wants to get away with murder one has to jolly well keep one's wits about one. It's the same with suicide. If I don't watch out I'll wake up in the psychopathic ward, but I intend to watch out and accomplish my end this time."

"No ether, alonal or window jumping. I don't want to be maimed. I want oblivion. If there is any after life it would be a dirty trick—but I am sure 50,000,000 priests are wrong. That is one of those things one knows."

"Nothing makes any difference now. I love to eat and I can have one delicious meal with no worry over gaining. I adore music. I am going to hear some good music. I believe I love music more than anything. I am going to drink slowly, keeping aware every second. ('Aware' was printed in large letters). Also, I am going to enjoy my last cigarettes. I won't worry because men flirt with me in the streets—I shall encourage them—I don't care who they are. I wish I got more pleasure sleeping with men. I'm afraid I've always been a rotten sleeper; it's the preliminaries that count with me."

"It doesn't matter though. It's a great life when one has 24 hours to live."

FUNERAL PYRE WAS THAT OF A HORSE SAYS THE CORONER

Stillwater, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—Washington County Coroner E. V. Strand today announced that fragments of bone found in the ashes of a bonfire near North St. Paul are those of the leg bone of a horse.

The analysis of the bone fragments was undertaken when several witnesses told county authorities they saw three men set fire to a pile of stumps at the spot where the bones were found.

"The fragments were so warped by the weather and heat of the fire that they did not resemble bones of a horse at first," Strand said. "Upon study of their structure, however, there remained no doubt as to their identity."

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—A special grand jury may be called to hear evidence that Anna Pinkowski, 19, strangled her newborn infant and threw it in a swamp, County Attorney John L. Townley, Jr., said today.

First word that the fliers had made the year's first crossing of the North Atlantic came when they passed over Bangor, Wales, 40 minutes before reaching Chester. Bangor is 50 miles due west of Chester, on the northwest coast of Wales. They were headed on a straight course for Berlin.

The fliers left at 2:05 P. M. after a halt of one hour. They were cheerful and received the congratulations of airport attaches smilingly, predicting with quiet confidence that their stout plane would carry them around the world in ten days.

Post and Gatty left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 2:27 P. M. EST. yesterday, and flew the distance of approximately 2,850 miles to Chester in 16 hours and 33 minutes at high speed.

Their start from New York was made at 3:56 A. M. EST. yesterday. The flight to Newfoundland required 27 hours and 49 minutes. The elapsed time from New York to Chester was 27 hours and 4 minutes.

Post revealed that the fliers were "lost" while approaching Ireland.

"We were surprised to find ourselves off our course," he said, "but later discovered we were not so far off as we had thought. We did not get our bearings until about 200 miles east of Galway. Later we encountered fog and clouds that hindered our observations."

"Coming down out of the fog we saw water, which we took to be the Irish Channel, and after skirting the coast of North Wales, we decided to land."

Post and Gatty looked wonderfully fit. They said they were hardly tired after their flight and their appearance confirmed it.

"We enjoyed the trip, except for three or four hours of rain we encountered early in the flight," Post said. "After that the weather was clear and we made good time."

"We hope to finish the flight even in better time than we had expected." The flight from Harbor Grace, with favorable winds, was made at a fast average of approximately 160 miles an hour.

When the fliers took off again they were escorted over Chester by two service planes. Commander A. P. Ellis, in charge of the field, and other pilots wished them good luck and a successful journey.

"It was a wonderful journey," Post said, "but after we sighted land we became excited an dthought we were somewhere off southern England. It must have been fog that put us off."

"The machine behaved perfectly and we never had the slightest apprehension. It might have been a mere demonstration flight, the engine ran so smoothly."

"After hte first couple of hours we

Avant to the Specter of Fear

ALMOST in a trice President Hoover has turned the world from fear to hope, says the Minneapolis Journal. His proposal of a year's postponement of all international debt payments seems, as if by the wave of a magician's wand, to have exorcised the specter of fear that has so long beaten down and deadened men's hopes.

In every market of the world the quickening pulse has been felt. A year in which to make recovery, to readjust conditions, to let men and governments get their feet under them for the long march upward that follows every depression, and must follow this one!

The American proposal is more than a gesture of generosity, more than an invigorator of trade. It is a challenge to the good faith of those Europeans whose treasuries are halfway posts along the line that runs from primary debtor to ultimate creditor—that is, from Germany to France and Great Britain and others, and from them to the United States.

Good faith is implicit in the proposal, since German reparations annuities payable to the Allies amount to nearly twice the amount of the annuities they owe to the United States. About 54 per cent of Germany's payments stop in Europe. Thus France would keep 96 millions of its receipts from Germany; Great Britain 19 millions of its receipts from Germany, France, Italy and others; Italy nine of its 45 millions received; Germany's smaller creditors 42 of their 59 millions.

Thus of the 427 millions payable by Germany in the year, the United States would forego by postponement 239 millions, whereas even France, which would make the next heaviest sacrifice, would lose for the time being perhaps only a third as much.

The Hoover proposal has already been accepted in principle by Great Britain and is everywhere hailed as a great and history-making event. France alone hesitates. But France can not afford to stand out against world opinion. She can not take upon herself the grave responsibility of resuming the specter of fear. If the United States can wait a year, so can France. And she will. In that year much may happen, much indeed will happen.

The auguries are good. A co-operating world will realize on their promise.

Radio Broadcasting Finance

If the average radio listener ever stops to consider who pays for the entertainment he gets he probably jumps to the conclusion that the proprietors of commodities, praise of which is more or less deftly insinuated into the programs, foot the bills, says the Philadelphia Bulletin. But this theory, according to an analysis of high-power station costs and revenues issued by the Federal Radio commission, is only about 50 per cent correct.

Interrogation of representatives of twenty-six stations applying for authority to use 50,000-watt power brought replies from twenty of them from which it was deduced that half of the broadcasters on cleared channels operate at a profit and half at a loss. Seventy per cent of the program service of these stations costs them nothing. For the remaining service, part of which is paid for by advertisers, they pay "talent" an average of $12,500 a month. Monthly operating cost averages $22,000. Income averages $23,500. But there is plant investment of $189,000 for a 5,000-watt station to be cared for; and the losses of the ten unprofitable stations exceed the gains of the ten that pay.

In view of these facts, it might be wondered why twenty-six concerns are anxious to use 50,000-watt power, the cost of installing which is estimated at $250,000 per station. The answer is probably in part in radio's future, from which greater things are anticipated. And there is also to be considered the sale of radio apparatus.

The distribution of receiving sets is wholly dependent upon the dissemination of programs capable of repaying the investment of the listener.

Resort Business

RESORT business and the wave of tourist travel, starting in May, growing large in June, will find its peak in July and August. In the latter two months schools and colleges have closed their portals to a large body of students, the only ones remaining being the special summer students. Families are united and able to take their vacations en masse in the Brainerd lake region.

The better tone to the stock market, the daily improvements in various lines of business, the assurance of good crops, the feeling of confidence among all the people, has had an immediate effect on the resort and tourist business. Expansion is quickly noted in Brainerd where the cars are filling the streets and the shoppers are thronging the stores. All lines of business are being benefited.

The constant growth of the Brainerd Lake Region is quickly noted by the annual visitor. It so impresses visitors that many become permanent investors here, eventually buying their own cottages and some spending half the year in the lake country.

There is recreation for everybody and every kind of a home from plain camp to metropolitan hotel to satisfy the gamut of demand.

125th Artillery Band to Play Here

THE Chamber of Commerce Committee has secured the 125th Artillery Band from Camp Ripley for a concert here this evening at Gregory park, the Municipal band consenting to the change in their schedule.

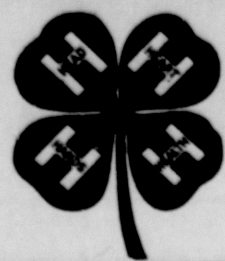

It is hoped there will be a large attendance of home people and the tourists from the lakes, to show their appreciation of the honor conferred on this city. Those who have heard the band have commented on their fine musicianship and their extensive repertoire.

It will be a lesson in patriotism for many to hear a regimental band play the Star Spangled Banner with the roll of drums, and harmony of instruments leading to the final climax.

Atlantic Flights

THE 'round the world flier, Gatty and Post, have gone about their preparations and second legs of flight so methodically that their undertaking is hardly receiving the widespread publicity it deserves. With their goal the breaking of the 'round the world flight mark, they are not spending much time at any stop to rest and philosophize, but are quickly on their way.

Two Atlantic flights within 24 hours, the Copenhagen fliers following swiftly on their heels, is the record for all time and leads one to believe it ushers in a day of Atlantic flying when traffic "fly cops" will be necessary to further insure safety in crossing the ocean.

Vera Ford exhibited her completed set of five articles required in sewing I. Franklin Ringering's Guernsey calf was shown before the club group, and after the meeting the sewing girls worked on their project. Miss Anderson, county club agent was present and discussed club work. It was decided that the Daggett Brook 4-H club would meet with the Oak Hill and St. Mathias 4-H clubs on July 13, the meeting place not yet decided upon. The next club meeting is planned for July 8 at Harvey Britton's home.

The Nokay Lake Go-Getters 4-H club held a meeting on June 15 at the town hall. Mr. Roth and Miss Anderson attended the meeting, and after a business session, a program was given and Mr. Roth giving a talk on the 4-H program for the rest of the year. Thirty-one visitors were present. The next meeting will be on June 29 in the afternoon.

DOUGHNUTS ARE BETTER IF COOKED A FEW AT A TIME

Likewise Coffee Has More Delicious Flavor When Roasted in Small Lots

Experience shows that if too many doughnuts are put into the hot fat at once, the cooking process is hindered. The temperature of the fat is reduced and the doughnuts become greasy.

A similar situation occurs when coffee is roasted in bulk. It is difficult to apply the heat evenly, and as a result some of the coffee berries may be overdone and some underdone. Such variation in the roast causes disappointing variation in flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this by inventing and patenting a process—Controlled Roasting—that roasts every coffee berry evenly. With automatic control of heat and speed of operation, a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. Uniformity of roast and unequalled flavor is the result.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh when you buy it because it is packed in vacuum. This process takes air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, from the can and keeps it out. Coffee will not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

Besides several members there were 10 visitors from the Pine Tree Sticklers 4-H club, three from the Shirt Lake 4-H club and one from Klondike Klickers 4-H club. An Achievement Day has been planned for the first part of July, the exact date will be given later. The proceeds taken in from the pie social were $5.50.

The Daggett Brook 4-H club met at the Jacob Ringering home Wednesday, June 17 at 2 p. m. Their new leader, Mrs. Raymond Kienow was present. Vera Ford exhibited her completed set of five articles required in sewing 1. Franklin Ringering's Guernsey calf was shown before the club group, and after the meeting the sewing girls worked on their project. Miss Anderson, county club agent was present and discussed club work. It was decided that the Daggett Brook 4-H club would meet with the Oak Hill and St. Mathias 4-H clubs on July 13, the meeting place not yet decided upon. The next club meeting is planned for July 8 at Harvey Britton's home.

The Nokay Lake Go-Getters 4-H club held a meeting on June 15 at the town hall. Mr. Roth and Miss Anderson attended the meeting, and after a business session, a program was given and Mr. Roth giving a talk on the 4-H program for the rest of the year. Thirty-one visitors were present. The next meeting will be on June 29 in the afternoon.

Oak Hill 4-H club met on Sunday, June 14. Plans were made to have a big time at the next meeting, which will be June 28. Ice cream and cake will be served and also a cake demonstration will be given.

The Miller Lake 4-H club held a meeting Saturday, June 13 at Mrs. E.

Anderson's home. After a short business session, a pleasing program was given by the club members, this followed by a cake demonstration given by Norman Anderson, after which some of the club girls served a delightful luncheon.

The Nisswa 4-H club held their second meeting June 13 at the Nisswa school. Miss Anderson, county club agent was present, and gave a talk about club work, and helped them decide on different things. The next meeting will be held July 8 at 9 a. m., at which time Miss Anderson will also attend.

DOUGHNUTS ARE BETTER IF COOKED A FEW AT A TIME

Likewise Coffee Has More Delicious Flavor When Roasted in Small Lots

Experience shows that if too many doughnuts are put into the hot fat at once, the cooking process is hindered. The temperature of the fat is reduced and the doughnuts become greasy.

A similar situation occurs when coffee is roasted in bulk. It is difficult to apply the heat evenly, and as a result some of the coffee berries may be overdone and some underdone. Such variation in the roast causes disappointing variation in flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this by inventing and patenting a process—Controlled Roasting—that roasts every coffee berry evenly. With automatic control of heat and speed of operation, a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. Uniformity of roast and unequal flavor is the result.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh when you buy it because it is packed in vacuum. This process takes air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, from the can and keeps it out. Coffee will not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

BOSTON BRAVES AS 'HEROES ONE DAY AND HOBOES NEXT'

CAN'T WIN WHEN
THEY MEET PHILS
OR CINCINNATI

CINCY REDS CAPTURE BOTH
ENDS OF A DOUBLE-
HEADER

BRAVES HAD JUST FINISHED
SPLITTING EVEN WITH THE CARDS

By LEO H. PETERSEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 24. — It takes the Boston Braves to bear out that old refrain of baseball players, "Heroes one day and hoboos next."

The Braves have been heroes to their backers many times this season for they have won the majority of their games against the most formidable teams in the National League. But they have been hoboos, too, for when they meet Philadelphia or Cincinnati, it doesn't seem to be in the books for them to win.

Cincinnati made the Braves look like hoboos yesterday and captured both ends of a double-header. It might not have been such a bitter pill for Boston followers except for the fact that the Braves had just finished splitting even in a six-game series with the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals.

They did little but go through the motions yesterday when they dropped the first game to the Reds, 2 to 0. Red Lucas allowed but three hits while Sherdel was not much of a puzzle for the Reds.

But the Reds weren't satisfied with one victory so they scored another, this one 8 to 4 in a contest that was called at the end of the sixth because of rain. Larry Benton mastered three Boston hurlers in the aftermath.

The defeats dropped the Braves to within a half a game of second division. The double-headers scheduled between New York and Chicago and Brooklyn and Pittsburgh and the game carded for St. Louis and Philadelphia were rained out.

Double-headers were the order of the day in the American League and the second place Washington Senators gained a full game on the pace setting Athletics.

Three Detroit pitchers wilted before Washington's 18-hit attack in the first game as Burke coasted to a 10-8 decision. The second game was a hurling duel between Marberry and Uhle with the veteran Tiger hurler weakening in the tenth inning when Washington scored all of its runs to win, 4-0.

Lefty Grove was sent to the hill by Connie Mack for the first game against the St. Louis Browns and the Paw star left-hander registered his 13th victory in shutting out St. Louis, 3-0. Grove allowed only two hits. The Browns came back to win the aftermath, 5 to 4, in 12 innings after the Athletics had come from behind to tie the count at 4-all at the end of the ninth. Schulte's single scored Storti with the deciding tally.

Cleveland shut out Boston twice, 13-0, and 10-0. Brown allowed the Red Sox only five hits in the first game while in the second Hudlin permitted but one safe blow. It was Webb's single in the second inning. The Indians had a field day at bat, rapping out 31 hits in the two contests.

The New York Yankees came out of their slump and bumped off the Chicago White Sox twice, 8 to 6 and 9 to 4. Babe Ruth hit his fourteenth home run of the season in the first game which was won by a four-run rally in the final inning. The Yankees sewed up the second contest when they scored five runs off Pat Caraway in the fourth inning. Ben Chapman, New York outfielder, stole three bases to bring his total of thefts this season up to 26.

'HUNK' ANDERSON OF NOTRE DAME HAS BREAKDOWN

TRAVELING TO THE ROCHESTER
CLINIC FOR IMMEDIATE
TREATMENT

SUFFERS INTENSE PAIN IN SINUS
ATTACK, IS IN WHEEL
CHAIR

Chicago, June 24.—(U.P.)—Hearty "Hunk" Anderson, Notre Dame's head football coach succeeding the late Knute Rockne, was en route today to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester to be treated for serious sinus trouble and a general breakdown.

Accompanied by Mrs. Anderson, he passed through Chicago last night and made the change of trains in a wheel chair. He was in intense pain from the sinus attack. Mrs. Anderson said he had lost 14 pounds in the last five days. Anderson had been treated daily for the last five weeks.

Just fifteen months ago, Rockne was returning from the Rochester clinic, where he had been treated for a leg infection that threatened his life. He recovered only to meet death several months ago in a Kansas airplane wreck.

Anderson's breakdown, friends said, was due to a worry over his work. He first became ill five weeks ago with a cold in the head. He went to Paw Lake, Mich., to rest, but was reported worse when he returned to South Bend. A trained nurse has been in attendance since.

Giants Beat Yankees, 19-10

The Southeast Giants defeated the Southeast Yankees in a heavy hitting baseball game here today, 19-10. Uno Tuomi, Albert Erickson, Clifford Whitlock and E. Taylor wielded the willow with force and effect.

BOTH TEAMS WON 34 GAMES, LOST 28 IN SEASON

LOUISVILLE LOST LEAD YESTER-DAY, DROPS BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE-HEADER

KNOTT PITCHED A BRILLIANT
GAME FOR MILWAUKEE IN
FIRST CONTEST

(By United Press)
Louisville, champions last year, and St. Paul were in a deadlock for first place in the American Association to-day, both teams having won 34 games and lost 28 this season.

Louisville lost the lead yesterday by dropping both ends of a double-header to Milwaukee, in fourth place, 1 to 0 and 4 to 2. Knott pitched a brilliant game for Milwaukee in the first contest, holding Louisville to eight hits, so well scattered that the losers never threatened to score.

St. Paul defeated Columbus, 12 to 7, in a free-hitting contest. The winners piled up 18 hits.
Minneapolis, holder of third place, lost a double-header to Toledo, 5-2 and 8-7. In the first game Ryan held Minneapolis to eight hits and allowed scores only in the second inning.

Ed Holley pitched the last place Kansas City Blues to a 4-2 victory over Indianapolis. He gave only six hits.
Games today:
Kansas City at Indianapolis (two games, one day, one night).
Milwaukee at Louisville.
St. Paul at Columbus.
Minneapolis at Toledo.

THIS week-end the Ryder Cup matches will be played on the Scioto links at Columbus, Ohio, between picked teams of English and American professional golfers. Last time—in 1929—England won 7 to 5 on a home (Mooretown) course. The Ryder classic now is played on alternate years with the Walker Cup matches that are confined to amateurs.

Great Britain won the first formal Ryder engagement in 1926 and lost in 1927. Uncle Sam hopes to even up the score this time.

Because of the rule that only native pros can represent their respective nations, Tommy Armour, new British Open champion, cannot play for the U. S. even though he is a naturalized citizen of this country. As every golfer knows, Armour was born in Scotland, lost an eye in action with the British Army during the World War, and was an amateur champion among the kilties before coming here more than a decade ago. Incidentally, of course, Tommy is the reigning U. S. professional, and also the Canadian, champion.

While Uncle Sam will miss the masterly services of Armour, John Bull is likely to be badly handicapped because his most brilliant young pro, Henry Cotton, is at loggerheads with the British Ryder Cup committee over their ruling that the team must return as a unit to the old country soon after the Scioto event ends. Cotton wishes to play later in the U. S. Open and exhibition matches besides. He will come over to do that but, at this writing, it looks as though he'll not be allowed to play in the Ryder Cup contests.

Another star, missing also in 1929, will not be on the U. S. team this year and he is, of course, Bill Mehlhorn, a spectacular veteran, who appears not to click with those in charge of pro golf. Mehlhorn's game has been off in 1930-31, so much so that he could hardly qualify for the team even under favorable official auspices. "Wild Bill" nevertheless, will be missed for his flashes of brilliancy and that thing called "color."

BOSTON BRAVES AS 'HEROES ONE DAY AND HOBOES NEXT'

COLONELS AND SAINTS DEADLOCK FOR FIRST PLACE

CAN'T WIN WHEN
THEY MEET PHILS
OR CINCINNATI

CINCY REDS CAPTURE BOTH
ENDS OF A DOUBLE-
HEADER

BRAVES HAD JUST FINISHED
SPLITTING EVEN WITH THE CARDS

By LEO H. PETERSEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 24.—It takes the Boston Braves to bear out that old refrain of baseball players, "Heroes one day and hobo's next."

The Braves have been heroes to their backers many times this season for they have won the majority of their games against the most formidable teams in the National League. But they have been hobo's, too, for when they meet Philadelphia or Cincinnati, it doesn't seem to be in the books for them to win.

Cincinnati made the Braves look like hobo's yesterday and captured both ends of a double-header. It might not have been such a bitter pill for Boston followers except for the fact that the Braves had just finished splitting even in a six-game series with the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals.

They did little but go through the motions yesterday when they dropped the first game to the Reds, 2 to 0. Red Lucas allowed but three hits while Sherdel wasn't much of a puzzle for the Reds.

But the Reds weren't satisfied with one victory so they scored another, this one 8 to 4 in a contest that was called at the end of the sixth because of rain. Larry Benton mastered three Boston hurlers in the aftermath.

The defeats dropped the Braves to within a half a game of second division. The double-headers scheduled between New York and Chicago and Brooklyn and Pittsburgh and the game carded for St. Louis and Philadelphia were rained out.

Double-headers were the order of the day in the American League and the second place Washington Senators gained a full game on the pace setting Athletics.

Three Detroit pitchers wilted before Washington's 18-hit attack in the first game as Burke coasted to a 10-8 decision. The second game was a hurling duel between Marberry and Uhle with the veteran Tiger hurler weakening in the tenth inning when Washington scored all of its runs to win, 4-0.

Lefty Grove was sent to the hill by Connie Mack for the first game against the St. Louis Browns and the star left-hander registered his 13th victory in shutting out St. Louis, 3-0. Grove allowed only two hits. The Browns came back to win the aftermath, 5 to 4, in 12 innings after the Athletics had come from behind to tie the count at 4-all at the end of the ninth. Schulte's single scored Storti with the deciding tally.

Cleveland shut out Boston twice, 13-0 and 10-0. Brown allowed the Red Sox only five hits in the first game while in the second Hudlin permitted but one safe blow. It was Webb's single in the second inning. The Indians had a field day at bat, rapping out 31 hits in the two contests.

The New York Yankees came out of their slump and bumped off the Chicago White Sox twice, 8 to 6 and 9 to 4. Babe Ruth hit his fourteenth home run of the season in the first game which was won by a four-run rally in the final inning. The Yankees sewed up the second contest when they scored five runs off Pat Caraway in the fourth inning. Ben Chapman, New York outfielder, stole three bases to bring his total of thefts this season up to 26.

'HUNK' ANDERSON OF NOTRE DAME HAS BREAKDOWN

TRAVELING TO THE ROCHESTER
CLINIC FOR IMMEDIATE
TREATMENT

ATTACK, IS IN WHEEL
CHAIR

Chicago, June 24.—(UP)—Hearty "Hunk" Anderson, Notre Dame's head football coach succeeding the late Knute Rockne, was en route today to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester to be treated for serious sinus trouble and a general breakdown.

Accompanied by Mrs. Anderson, he passed through Chicago last night and made the change of trains in a wheel chair. He was in intense pain from the sinus attack. Mrs. Anderson said he had lost 14 pounds in the last five days. Anderson had been treated daily for the last five weeks.

Just fifteen months ago, Rockne was returning from the Rochester clinic, where he had been treated for a leg infection that threatened his life. He recovered only to meet death several months ago in a Kansas airplane wreck.

Anderson's breakdown, friends said, was due to a worry over his work. He first became ill five weeks ago with a cold in the head. He went to Paw Paw Lake, Mich., to rest, but was reported worse when he returned to South Bend. A trained nurse has been in attendance since.

GAME FOR MILWAUKEE IN
FIRST CONTEST

(By United Press)
Louisville, champions last year, and St. Paul were in a deadlock for first place in the American Association today, both teams having won 34 games and lost 28 this season.

Louisville lost the lead yesterday by dropping both ends of a double-header to Milwaukee, in fourth place, 1 to 0 and 4 to 2. Knott pitched a brilliant game for Milwaukee in the first contest, holding Louisville to eight hits, so well scattered that the losers never threatened to score.

St. Paul defeated Columbus, 12 to 7, in a free-hitting contest. The winners piled up 18 hits.

Minneapolis, holder of third place, lost a double-header to Toledo, 5-2 and 8-7. In the first game Ryan held Minneapolis to eight hits and allowed scores only in the second inning.

Ed Holley pitched the last place Kansas City Blues to a 4-2 victory over Indianapolis. He gave only six hits.

Games today:
Kansas City at Indianapolis (two games, one day, one night).
Milwaukee at Louisville.
St. Paul at Columbus.
Minneapolis at Toledo.

DRAG FAILS TO FIND BODY OF MRS. POHJOLA

Woman Believed to Have Drowned
Herself in Mississippi River
Near Boom Lake

FIND CLOTHES ON STUMP

Search for Body Continues Today,
Day Set for Marriage of
Daughter, Muista

Hours of dragging the Mississippi river had failed up to this afternoon to recover the body of Mrs. Jennie Pohjola, wife of George Pohjola, 1419 Rosewood street, believed to have drowned herself while in a despondent mood Tuesday.

First intimation of a suicidal drowning came late yesterday afternoon when Fred Cossette reported to Captain of Police Charles Varner that while walking the bank of the river fishing he came upon a woman's clothing hung on the stump of a tree. He said a hat floated a short distance out in the river.

The clothes were similar to those worn by a woman walking near Boom Lake in the morning, Cossette told authorities.

City police reported the case to Sheriff Frank E. Little. The sheriff and Deputy George Ridley supervised dragging operations. Continuance of the search was conducted by Coroner D. E. Whitney.

Doubtful pathetic was the tragedy because the daughter, Muista, was to have been married today. Immediate plans for the wedding have been abandoned.

The theory that Mrs. Pohjola might have wandered away into the woods was discredited by authorities. They believed that the 38 year old mother had taken off her outer clothing and had waded into the river, miring in the mud of the river bottom and stumbling into the deep water at the drop off, a short distance from the shore.

The clothes were found a short distance north from Boom Lake.

Friends said that Mrs. Pohjola had worried a great deal over recent financial difficulties. A neighbor who said that Mrs. Pohjola always brought her flowers stated this morning that she had seen her friend early yesterday morning and that she had said she was worrying terribly and couldn't get her mind at rest.

The husband and son aided officials in their attempts at recovery of the body today.

EAST ROUND LAKE

Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. J. N. Francis were Mr. and Mrs. John Crowell and daughters of Dykeman, Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Gullings and Mrs. J. Tift of Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Workman of Twin Lakes. Dr. and Mrs. Gullings and Mrs. Tift were dinner guests.

STAGE ACTRESSES FETED BY ROTARY

Players in New York Drama Vacat-
ioning in Brainerd
Lake Region

Brainerd Rotarians welcomed two New York actresses, Misses Brenda Dahlen and Ruth Fallows, as guest speakers Tuesday noon.

The latter actress, now of the legitimate drama, is credited with being the only person to have informed Flo Ziegfeld, who glorified the American girl, that when she had an appointment with anyone she demanded punctuality.

Her statement to the notable musical revue producer that her time was valuable and that she desired not to be kept waiting won her a place in Ziegfeld Follies where she became supporting lead.

Miss Fallows, following her follies career, turned to the legitimate drama, playing the London stage as well as New York. Her recent appearance was in "Dishonored Lady" in which Miss Katherine Cornell starred.

True to her demand for punctuality, Miss Fallows typifies it in her life. Miss Fallows and Miss Dahlen were to appear at the Rotary club at 12:15 p. m. They were delayed in passing through the Minneapolis traffic due to the Knights Templar parade but by making wonderful time were able to reach the Ransford hotel on time.

The girls are enjoying their first glimpses of the Brainerd Lake Region and their experiences will be treasured and will serve as topics for conversation with friends in the east, they told Rotarians.

Miss Dahlen spoke of her work in the theatre and of the hard study required before one can engage in the profession. Among New York plays she has appeared in are: "The Age of Innocence," "Dishonored Lady," "The Ninth Guest," "Greater Love." She appeared with Miss Cornell in the first two plays. She is contemplating a lead in a play to be released late this summer in New York to be followed with an 18 weeks tour to principal cities of the country, including Minneapolis.

Miss Fallows has appeared in two motion picture shorts. Warner Brothers and Fox Films are at present bidding for her signature to a contract.

DRAG FAILS TO FIND BODY OF MRS. POHJOLA

Woman Believed to Have Drowned
Herself in Mississippi River
Near Boom Lake

FIND CLOTHES ON STUMP

Search for Body Continues Today,
Day Set for Marriage of
Daughter, Muista

Hours of dragging the Mississippi river had failed up to this afternoon to recover the body of Mrs. Jennie Pohjola, wife of George Pohjola, 1419 Rosewood street, believed to have drowned herself while in a despondent mood Tuesday.

First intimation of a suicidal drowning came late yesterday afternoon when Fred Cossette reported to Captain of Police Charles Varner that while walking the bank of the river fishing he came upon a woman's clothing hung on the stump of a tree. He said a hat floated a short distance out in the river.

The clothes were similar to those worn by a woman walking near Boom Lake in the morning, Cossette told authorities.

City police reported the case to Sheriff Frank E. Little. The sheriff and Deputy George Ridley supervised dragging operations. Continuance of the search was conducted by Coroner D. E. Whitney.

Doubtful pathetic was the tragedy because the daughter, Muista, was to have been married today. Immediate plans for the wedding have been abandoned.

The theory that Mrs. Pohjola might have wandered away into the woods was discredited by authorities. They believed that the 38 year old mother had taken off her outer clothing and had waded into the river, miring in the mud of the river bottom and stumbling into the deep water at the drop off, a short distance from the shore.

The clothes were found a short distance north from Boom Lake.

Friends said that Mrs. Pohjola had worried a great deal over recent financial difficulties. A neighbor who said that Mrs. Pohjola always brought her flowers stated this morning that she had seen her friend early yesterday morning and that she had said she was worrying terribly and couldn't get her mind at rest.

The husband and son aided officials in their attempts at recovery of the body today.

EAST ROUND LAKE

Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. J. N. Francis were Mr. and Mrs. John Crowell and daughters of Dykeman, Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Gullings and Mrs. J. Tift of Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Workman of Twin Lakes. Dr. and Mrs. Gullings and Mrs. Tift were dinner guests.

Our telephone man, Sam Varner, has been over the line twice lately. The wind has kept it in bad shape. Mrs. A. R. Knowlen, Clarence Knowlen and Mrs. J. N. Francis were shopping in Brainerd Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Conkin spent a few days in Brainerd the first part of last week.

William Francis of Hutchinson is visiting his sister, Mrs. Seth Bork of Cold Spring Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott of Borden Lake called at the Linden House on Friday.

Week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Knowlen were A. F. Haspel, and Frank C. Black, both of St. Joseph, Mo.

Mrs. Cutka was lost in the woods here for several hours before finding her way out. She had spent the night with Mrs. A. H. Barber. In the morning she cut through the woods on her way home, losing her way. She is suffering no ill effects from the scare.

Mrs. Clarence Knowlen returned from Glendive, Mont., this week, where she has been visiting at the home of her mother.

Some exceptionally large waves came in on the west shore of Mille Lacs lake on Friday. No damage was reported.

Arrive by Airplane

Harry E. French, Mankato, district manager and L. J. Ludwig, Minneapolis, accountant for Publix Theatres arrived in the city by airplane this morning at the Rosko Airport.

MARRIED ONE DAY, SEEKS ANNULMENT OF HIS BO

San Francisco, June 25.—Married but one day, Fred Frantzolas, 38, today was seeking an annulment of his marriage to Dolores Kathryn Babb of Minneapolis. They were married at 9 o'clock Tuesday and the suit was filed at 4 o'clock Wednesday. The husband charged his wife had deceived him by saying she was a widow.

To the public:

Notice is hereby given that a final auction of unsold buildings on Block 82 and 161 will be held at the Washington school auditorium on Thursday evening, June 25 at 8 o'clock. Buildings to be offered for sale include what formerly belonged to Lena Johnson and will be numbered as houses No. 1, Joe Rauch No. 2, Lillian Lawrence No. 3, Louis O. Johnson No. 4, Coventry house No. 5, garage on back of Wm. L. L. Smith property No. 6, J. H. Muller house No. 7, and Muller garage No. 8. Offers made on these remaining buildings must be acceptable to committee in charge or bids will be considered for bath room fixtures and heating plants and the buildings will be wrecked by the Board of Education and sold as salvage.

Parties interested in these remaining unsold buildings are requested to be present at this last and final auction and avail themselves of the last opportunity to be offered to bid for the purchase of these unsold buildings.

STAGE ACTRESSES FETED BY ROTARY

Brainerd, MINNESOTA THURSDAY.
Players in New York Drama Vacat-
ioning in Brainerd
Lake Region

Brainerd Rotarians welcomed two New York actresses, Misses Brenda Dahlen and Ruth Fallows, as guest speakers Tuesday noon.

The latter actress, now of the legitimate drama, is credited with being the only person to have informed Flo Ziegfeld, who glorified the American girl, that when she had an appointment with anyone she demanded punctuality.

Her statement to the notable musical revue producer that her time was valuable and that she desired not to be kept waiting won her a place in Ziegfeld Follies where she became a supporting lead.

Miss Fallows, following her follies career, turned to the legitimate drama, playing the London stage as well as New York. Her recent appearance was in "Dishonored Lady" in which Miss Katherine Cornell starred.

True to her demand for punctuality, Miss Fallows typifies it in her life.

Miss Fallows and Miss Dahlen were to appear at the Rotary club at 12:15 p. m. They were delayed in passing through the Minneapolis traffic due to the Knights Templar parade but by making wonderful time were able to reach the Ransford hotel on time.

The girls are enjoying their first glimpses of the Brainerd Lake Region and their experiences will be treasured and will serve as topics for conversation with friends in the east, they told Rotarians.

Miss Dahlen spoke of her work in the theatre and of the hard study required before one can engage in the profession. Among New York plays she has appeared in are: "The Age of Innocence," "Dishonored Lady," "The Ninth Guest," "Greater Love." She appeared with Miss Cornell in the first two plays. She is contemplating a lead in a play to be released this summer in New York to be followed with an 18 weeks tour to principal cities of the country, including Minneapolis.

Miss Fallows has appeared in two motion picture shorts, Warner Brothers and Fox Films are at present bidding for her signature to a contract.

WEST WIND HELPS FLIERS TO COPENHAGEN

Harbor Grace, N. F., June 24.—Another plane, the second within 24 hours, soared into the air here today and started out across the North Atlantic toward Europe.

Otto Hillig and Holger Holm of New York departed at 3:24 A. M. EST. for Copenhagen. A west wind helped them at the start. Weather conditions were favorable.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty left at 2:27 P. M. EST. yesterday in the Winnie Mae for Berlin. They are seeking to encircle the world in 10 days to break the record of the Graf Zeppelin.

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 24.—The air field was ordered in readiness today to receive Otto Hillig and Holger Holm, over the Atlantic on their way here from New York.

Miss, if they arrive without mishap, will be paraded through the streets under the auspices of the Aeronautic society and later receive the society's medal of honor.

RUTH NICHOLS MAY FLY IN SEPTEMBER

St. John, N. F., June 24.—Miss Ruth Nichols, American woman flier, insisted today that despite injuries suffered when her plane crashed up in landing here, she would make another attempt to fly the Atlantic in September.

The New York society aviator will be in the hospital for some days, attending physicians at the hospital here said. She may return to New York shortly, however, after the swelling caused by her injuries has gone down and a plaster cast fitted.

Miss Nichols suffered a cracked spine and painful injuries to one of her legs when her plane crashed as she landed here at the end of the first phase of her proposed trans-Atlantic flight from New York.

She said she wanted to fly her damaged plane back to New York, and said she disliked the idea of a train journey. Persons who viewed the machine said they believed Miss Nichols would need a new plane.

Clarence Chamberlain, trans-Atlantic flier, and Mrs. Chamberlain, who flew here in another plane, remained to discuss further flight plans with Miss Nichols.

Dave Ordway, wealthy, young aviator, lands his disabled plane in the Florida orange grove owned by Joan Marbury. Joan and her cousin, Sally, alone on the plantation, have great difficulty in running the place, due to the interference of Mueller, their disreputable neighbor. When Dave refuses Mueller's demand of $2,000 for the damages to his property, crashing through the trees to his landing on the Marbury plantation, Mueller holds him up and relieves him of $850, threatening to collect more. That night Mueller sets fire to Dave's plane. Rushing to the scene, Dave encounters Mueller. A quarrel ensues. Joan rescues Dave. Under Sally's care Dave recovers from the effects of his fight. Though attracted to Sally, he admires the reserved Joan's courage. Sally, anxious to return north for a good time, urges Joan to accept Dave's offer to purchase the plantation. Joan tells of the "accidents" to the property following her repulsion of Mueller's advances. Dave receives an unexpected visit from his former fiancée, Barbara Holworthy, and his friends, Gerry Flemming and Talbot Henderson.

CHAPTER X.

DAVE shuffled his feet uneasily in the darkness. "Gerry," he said, not looking at Talbot, "what gave you the ambition to drive this far? For years you haven't had the strength to do anything more violent than to lift your chin when a steward lighted a match for your cigarette. Now, suddenly, you break out all over, leap into your car and drive a hundred miles away. Why?"

As Gerry lighted a cigarette, he looked like a church deacon. A huge pair of horn-rimmed glasses gave him an expression of keen intelligence that was notably at variance with his reputation, which was to get along as best he could without undue strain on either mind or body.

Buck Passing

"It's all Barbara's fault, Dave," explained Talbot, whose portly form, garbed in a loose-fitting suit of Chinese poncee, reminded the pilot of a plaster Buddha. "She got all hot and bothered about your note. Pretended to be worried for fear you had bashed in your silly conk, you know. I told her that the tree had never sprouted that would even dent your skull, but she made such a fiendish do-do that even the slothful Gerry was stirred to action. Spoiled child, Babs, and extremely objectionable at times."

"Me—spoiled!" echoed Barbara, untruffled. "You are a fine one to talk! Why, you were such a poisonous brat as a young one that your servants used to get drunk to drown their sorrows every time you came home from school on a vacation."

"Wrong again, sweetness," retorted Talbot, his rubicund face showing like a full moon in the semi-darkness. "They got drunk and began to throw things around because they knew I'd be going away again shortly and just had to do something to 'take their minds away from the impending tragedy. But if you're going to be disagreeable, I'm not going to sit near you. I'm a shrinking, sensitive soul and my feelings are very easily hurt."

So saying, he heaved his ponderous body out of his chair and set down beside Sally with a fat sigh of relief. Gerry immediately occupied the chair that his friend had just left. Reaching into the pocket of his sport coat, he produced a small oblong object that glittered in the reflected light of the moon. Crossing his legs and sinking far down on his spine, he cupped his hands over the object and raised them to his face. From the partially hidden instrument there came a long, wailing chord, muted and tremulous. Then, slurring down half a scale, the strange, barbaric notes began to blend into familiar music, slow, infectious, filled with minor dissonances and grace notes. Gerry's doekin shoe began to pat time as the sobbing refrain of the "St. Louis Blues" began to vibrate through the still evening air.

A Glimpse of Sunshine

"The harmonica," explained Talbot politely, "is Gerry's only accomplishment. When he is a little confused about anything, he always tootles that horrible thing."

Sally's joyous laughter caused Dave to stare at her. He had not known that she could laugh like that. Joan, too, seemed suddenly to have laid aside all her cares and worries and was enjoying herself thoroughly.

"What's he confused about now?" Joan asked Talbot.

"You never know," shrugged Talbot. "Perhaps it's because no one has made him sign a check for half an hour or so. Perhaps it's because he's in a new place without his big white yacht in the background. Perhaps he only needs a drink."

Gerry cocked a threatening eye at Talbot over the top of the mouth organ, but the rhythm of the blues went on unbroken. Only Barbara seemed unappreciative. She sat, still and silent, in a chair at the edge of the porch, her large dark eyes resting speculatively upon Dave's profile.

"Has David been flirting with you, Miss Sally?" asked Talbot solicitously, drawing his chair close to hers. "He's a great trial to me. He behaves outrageously whenever I'm not with him. My spare time is completely taken up in going around after him, apologizing for his conduct."

"He's been fighting again," announced Barbara, coldly. "His nose is out of shape and his ear looks as though someone had tried to bite it off."

Talbot leaned forward and stared at Dave appraisingly. "So he has," he marveled. "My eyes have been so full of other things, I haven't had time to inspect him. Yes, he looks like something left over in a speakeasy after a busy Saturday night. If Gerry would only lay off that caterwauling, perhaps Dave would tell us where the body is buried."

"And I," said Barbara, restlessly, "would like to have a few moments in close communion with a mirror."

Joan rose instantly. "Davey," commanded Barbara, with a sidelong glance at her hostess, "run out to the car and bring in my fitted case, will you, dear?"

The moaning of the harmonica ceased abruptly. "Do we dress for dinner, Dave?" demanded Gerry, brightly.

"No, you goat," snapped Dave, "unless you're planning to drive back to town for dinner."

"He isn't going to drive anywhere," said Sally, firmly, as Dave limped down the steps leading to the gravel path. "If you knew what it means to have you all here, you wouldn't even suggest it."

"I didn't suggest it," said Talbot indignantly. "You couldn't drag me away from here with a ten-ton tractor, especially since our little Davey is simply bursting with hospitality, good cheer and what not."

Hannah appeared, silhouetted mountainously in the lighted doorway, the whites of her eyes rolling as she peered out into the darkness.

"Yawl can set down, now," she announced. Then, showing an amazing number of ivory and gold teeth, "Fo' Gawd, Miss Joan, dat was sweet music. I suah did suffer dem blues."

"We'll be in a moment, Hannah," laughed Joan, as Dave painfully mounted to the porch and passed Barbara her light bag.

"Hannah has an artistic soul," observed Gerry owlishly.

"Hear, hear!" applauded Talbot. "Gerry believes that the blues are the highest form of musical art and that Handy was the greatest composer of all time. And now let's eat. I'm starved."

As Joan led Barbara into the house, Dave tried to draw Talbot aside to whisper that the girls had scarcely enough money to supply the needs of their own table but the latter, thinking that Dave wished to scold him for his part in bringing Barbara, slipped out of his reach and moved hastily to the screen door.

"No sense in waiting for Babs to put on her war paint. She'll be hours and hours," he said. "Lucky if we eat before breakfast time. Let's go."

"We may as well go in and have some coffee with them, Dave," said Sally.

Southern Hospitality

There was a fly to Sally's voice that soothed the lily's misgivings. Talbot interposed his very considerable bulk between Dave and the girl, opening the door with a gesture of the utmost gallantry, then followed her precipitately as Dave took one quick step after him.

"Come on, Gerry," called Dave. "We'll have to chloroform that oaf before another hour goes by."

"Why chloroform?" asked Gerry, unfolding his long legs and rising. "Just smack him. Easier. Quicker. More fun."

If the cupboards had been scraped bare to provide a second meal, it was not evident from the appearance of the dinner table. Hannah had placed knives, forks and spoons in as careful array as though a six-course meal were about to be served. A fruit cocktail, gleaming red and orange in crystal-thin glasses, stood appetizingly at the places of the three unexpected guests.

Talbot, with naive pleasure, his blue eyes darting across the carefully-set table, was in rare good humor. He accepted this situation as just another of the delightful things that were always happening to him. He was content to live from minute to minute, was Talbot, exacting the maximum in enjoyment out of each passing second. The only son of a family who had been wealthy for three generations, he still found fun in roving the world with his friends leading a thoroughly idle and useless life and admitting it to all and sundry.
